Rocket's Capsule Ejected, but Lost

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A capsule from the satellite Discoverer II apparently was successfully ejected Tuesday over the far reaches of the north Pacific, the Air Force said today.

A terse announcement said various radioed reports are being checked to determine the capsule's probable landing area in the polar region.

This was the package the Air Force had hoped to catch, aerially, near Hawaii. But malfunction of a timing device thwarted the plan.

The capsule was set to be ejected automatically when the Discoverer II satellite made its 17th orbit around the earth. That was about 7 p.m. EST Tuesday night.

There was no direct way of telling whether this took place. Scientists today studied intricate data radioed back from the satellite, still in its high-flying orbit.

The capsule's slight changes in its weight, its center of gravity and altitude could tell them whether the capsule was successfully fired back toward earth.

Several other rocket shoots crowded into the past days—both the satellite and missile variety—were less successful than the Discoverer, which was fired into a pole-to-pole orbit from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Monday.

Except for recovery of the capsule, a 1,000 to 1 chance even if everything worked right, the Discoverer performed well and produced important scientific information, the scientists reported.

The Air Force had hoped to snare the capsule as it floated down under a parachute near the Hawaiian Islands but a cranky timing device failed and the capsule was not ejected at the right time. This attempt was to have been on command from a radar station in the islands.

The little moon still contained a mechanism that automatically was to shoot out the capsule and fire its retro rockets to slow it down enough to enter the atmosphere.

The point of return, however, was calculated to be far north of the range of Air Force planes which had been practicing to snag the parachute with dangling trapeze-like devices.

Recovery of the capsule would have been an historic achievement. Satellites—both Soviet and American—have fallen back into the atmosphere but they burned up long before they reached the ground.

A Vanguard satellite attempt failed Monday night at Cape Canaveral, Fla., shortly after the successful Discoverer shoot at the other end of the country.

Authorities said the second stage of the Vanguard rocket was knocked off course by a severe jolt and failed to operate properly. The rocket plunged into the Atlantic.

In the missile field, a new kind of Atlas—first of the "D" series—was launched off Cape Canaveral Tuesday and was destroyed in the air. It had been aimed at a target area 5,000 miles down the Atlantic firing range.

A faulty clamp, one of four that locks the rocket to the launching pad before firing, was blamed for the failure.

Your Income Tax Return to Get Checkup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal tax officials said today they will question more income tax returns this year than ever before.

The deadline for filing individual returns is midnight tonight. Legally, returns must reach Internal Revenue Service offices by then. In practice, however, they'll be accepted if they are postmarked by that time.

Officials supervising IRS tax audits said their work on the latest crop of returns will be expanded regardless of what Congress does with the agency's budget.

This is in line with an announced goal of Commissioner Dana Latham to expand tax checks "so that no taxpayer can ever feel that he is secure from an audit."

About 2,600,000 income tax returns of all kinds were audited last year. An audit means the taxpayer is asked to supply more information or justify certain items in a return.

This work, by 12,600 agents and auditors, brought in an additional 1½ billion dollars in revenue. Only a small fraction of the 93½ million returns filed each year are audited. About 61 million returns are from individuals.

Jetliner Chalks Record For Coast-to-Coast Trip

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fighting 50 m.p.h. headwinds, a jet airliner raced from New York City to Los Angeles in 4 hours 46 minutes Tuesday, breaking the commercial air record for westbound flights.

The plane, carrying a capacity load of 106 passengers and eight crew members, bettered the old record by an hour and 32 minutes. The American Airlines Boeing 707 jet flagship, piloted by Capt. Charles A. MacAtee, averaged 570 m.p.h. for the 2,469-mile transcontinental flight.

Assembly Gives New Impetus To DiSalle Plan

House OKs 2-Cent Gas Tax Hike To Pay for Highways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle won a legislative victory on the gasoline tax Tuesday which may speed his entire tax program through the Legislature.

The 77-55 victory on a bill to jack up the state gasoline tax by two cents a gallon is the key to a 300-million-dollar-a-year, pay-as-you-go highway building program.

But perhaps more importantly, the victory which sends to the Senate the gasoline tax increase from five to seven cents a gallon re-establishes the new governor's tion.

DiSalle lost only two Democratic votes in the House on his 58-million-dollar-a-year gasoline tax increase, and he picked up two Republican votes.

Until the vote was cast, the feeling had spread through legislative halls that the governor's entire tax program might be floundering.

The House faces another crucial vote today on a Senate-approved bill to create a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with power to enforce regulations against discrimination in jobs because of race, religion or national origin. House approval would send it to the governor for his signature.

While the House was in a bill-passing mood, it also sent to the Senate a proposal to place new tax revenues into a special highway fund earmarked for construction.

Passage of the two-cent gasoline tax came after the House beat down 75-57 a Republican amendment to shave the increase to one cent.

The bill included a two-cent increase in the diesel fuel tax, but there is a separate pending measure to add another two-cent tax on diesel fuel. The two possible taxes on diesel fuel would raise another four million dollars a year for roadbuilding.

Republicans voting for the gasoline and diesel fuel tax increase were Reps. Kline L. Roberts of Columbus and Harold W. Oyster of Marietta. Democrats opposing the tax increase were Reps. Virtus J. Kruse of Leesburg, Highland County, and Ed Wallace of Circleville.

Also beaten down in the House, 75-57, was an amendment by Rep. D. O. Taber (R-Gallia) to give local subdivisions a share of the tax.

Among bills due to be signed by DiSalle in the next couple of days are measures to permit tuberculosis hospitals to treat non-tuberculosis patients and the closing of hospitals no longer needed for the treatment of tuberculosis. Both bills were sponsored by Sen. Ed Witmer (D-Stark). They have passed and have been signed by the presiding officers of both houses.

Rotary Club To Equip Playground

The Circleville Park Commission will start laying out the South End Playground tomorrow with Rotary Club officials.

Rotary is donating most of the equipment for the playground, which will include a baseball and softball backstop, basketball courts, swings and other equipment.

Three Circleville lumber companies are donating two picnic tables each to be placed on the Hargus Creek levy at Ted Lewis Park. This will be done after the levy has been repaired.

The Park Commission has plans for installing a shuffle board court between the community pool and the youngsters play area.

TWO HORSE SHOE courts are to be installed south of the tennis courts, away from the children's play areas. The shelter house has been creosoted and cleaned up.

Sidewalks will be installed to the rest rooms and the rest rooms' plumbing has been repaired. General cleaning by the relief workers of the county has been in operation for several weeks.

Three local garden clubs met with the Park Board recently to discuss and plan land scaping the entire park area. The clubs meeting with the three-man commission were the Circleville, Pickaway and Roundown garden clubs.

Cancer-Stricken Dulles Quits as State Secretary

President Mum On Selection Of Successor

Eisenhower Saddened In Saying Top Envoy Now 'Incapacitated'

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, his voice choked with emotion, today sadly announced the resignation of cancer-stricken Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

At a dramatic news conference at his vacation headquarters, Eisenhower said Dulles now is "absolutely incapacitated" to carry on the administrative burden of his office, and make policy as well.

The President said he has made no final decision on a successor to Dulles. He gave newsmen the impression he might pick someone other than Undersecretary Christian A. Herter, who has been serving as acting secretary.

But the President by no means ruled out Herter.

In Washington, one top Republican official said it would be wrong to view Eisenhower's delay in naming a successor as a sign that Herter would not get the post.

Herter is easily the outstanding candidate, this informant said, and is regarded as such by the President.

Eisenhower's noncommittal answer about Herter today, this official said, was not meant to alter this but to show the President wanted to wait a few days before announcing the choice of Herter.

Dulles, Eisenhower said, will continue to serve him as a foreign policy consultant.

There was a trace of tears in Eisenhower's eyes as he announced the 71-year-old Dulles' decision to step down.

Although at the news conference Eisenhower called Dulles "absolutely incapacitated" for the administrative burden and "doing the thinking for it," an aide said later that the President had not intended to use the word "absolutely."

Press secretary James C. Hagerty asked newsmen to delete the word, and the official White House transcript eliminated it.

The Paris-born 64-year-old Herter is understood to have been aware of Eisenhower's intention of announcing that Dulles would end his six-year role as chief foreign policy maker.

A former Republican congressman and former governor of Massachusetts, Herter is known to have been Dulles' choice as his successor.

Herter is held in high regard by many influential Democrats as well as Republican senators. Further, he is reported to have displayed an ability to work well with Eisenhower during Dulles' illness.

Herter is afflicted with arthritis of the hips which pains him if he walks more than 10 or 20 yards, or must stand for any length of time.

But, this physical limitation has never caused him to miss a single day's work.

Herter frequently uses lightweight metal arm crutches. His physicians report he has no arthritis anywhere else in his body and is perfectly comfortable sitting or lying down or walking short distances.

A reporter told Eisenhower it had been pretty much taken for granted that Herter would move up to Dulles' cabinet post.

Asked whether he had someone other than Herter in mind, Eisenhower said there are "all kinds of considerations" to take into account. He added there are "a number of people with particular talents" who could fill the top foreign policy post.

Eisenhower's dramatic announcement came less than 24 hours after Dulles' doctors concluded that his cancer probably has spread to the neck area. Earlier it apparently had been confined to the abdominal area.

Eisenhower said he wanted to make it clear that Dulles is not helpless, but that the secretary is "absolutely incapacitated for carrying on the administrative load" and the policy-making chores of the State Department.

It was at that point that the President said he has asked the 71-year-old Dulles to stay on as a foreign policy consultant.

Eisenhower heaped praise on Dulles, calling him one of the most

Kneeling Man Fatally Beaten

Holmes County, 76, Murdered in Cabin

MILLERSBURG, Ohio (AP) — Who brutally bludgeoned to death a 76-year-old Spanish-American War veteran while he apparently was on his knees, pleading for his life?

That was the riddle that puzzled Holmes County Sheriff Harry R. Weiss today as he sought the answer to a slaying that netted the killer about $25.

The victim was Harvey Harpster, a retired railroad man and widower who once lied about his age so he could serve his country as a 16-year-old soldier in the Spanish-American War.

His body was found Monday by Weiss in Harpster's three-room cabin in the Lake O'Dell area of northwestern Holmes County.

Harpster was on his knees, the sheriff said, his head slumped forward. On the top of his scalp were the marks of a crushing blow.

A preliminary autopsy showed a metal object caused Harpster's death. Coroner A. E. Earney called it murder.

Weiss explained that the position of the body on the living room floor indicated Harpster had been struck the fatal blow while on his knees.

And the sheriff said his theory is that the elderly pensioner was pleading with the killer to spare his life.

About $25 was missing from the cabin, Weiss said, and this seemed to support his belief that Harpster was killed in a robbery attempt.

Part of the mystery was the presence of .22 caliber shells—some live, some already fired. Weiss declined to say if the bullets had any bearing on the case.

Harpster was last seen alive Friday by one of his neighbors, the sheriff said.

When Harpster—a familiar figure in the small community—failed to appear Saturday and Sunday, his neighbors began to worry and notified the sheriff.

Weiss went to the cabin and made the grisly find.

One Injured In Car Crash

Paul E. Speakman, 21, Box 36, Williamsport, was slightly injured when his car crashed off Route 22 about two miles west of here at 6:30 p. m. yesterday.

Speakman was treated at a local doctor's office for cuts and abrasions.

The driver told Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey that his auto went out of control when another vehicle passed. Deputy Felkey said the car travelled 408 feet after going off the highway.

According to Felkey, Speakman's car rolled over several times. He said the new convertible was demolished.

Splurge on Clothing Actually Is Robbery

DETROIT (AP) A man who said "my wife splurged for Easter, now it's my turn" spent 45 minutes choosing shirts, ties and other apparel in a store Tuesday.

Then he turned a gun on the clerk, took $75 from the cash register and fled with both the money and the clothing.

Mexican Police Capture Sprenz

Escaped Bank Thug Being Handed to U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico gave the bum's rush today to Frank Lawrence Sprenz, a flying American bank robber on the FBI's list of 10 most wanted men.

Two immigration agents were driving the fast-traveling, fast-talking holdup artist to the U.S. Mexican border to hand him over to American authorities.

Captured Monday as he was fishing off the Yucatan coast, Sprenz in less than 24 hours was ordered deported for entering Mexico illegally. He was flown to Mexico City Tuesday afternoon and transferred to a car for the drive north.

The 29-year-old bandit is wanted for robbing a bank in Hamilton, Ohio, of $29,955; for the $1,499 holdup of an Akron, Ohio, cafe and for a series of other crimes in the United States and Canada. Ohio was his chief theater of operations.

Wreckage of a plane — one of several Sprenz used in eluding police-led to the capture.

Mexican police traced to him a Piper Pacer which cracked up landing early in April on the Gulf coast north of Veracruz.

The police tracked him to the Yucatan island resort of Cozumel and nabbed him as he was fishing in the Caribbean. He was posing as a prosperous U.S. highway engineer, one of several roles he assumed in a year of flight.

Sprenz broke jail a year ago in Akron with four other prisoners while he was awaiting trial for the cafe holdup. One of the fugitives was killed and three others quickly rounded up. Sprenz got away.

The FBI posted him as one of the nation's 10 most dangerous criminals five months later. While a fugitive, he learned to fly in Seattle under an assumed name and then used both air and road to elude police.

Too Much Water Nets Whopping Bill for City

BALTIMORE (AP) — The city has a $50,000 water bill on its hands for furnishing too much to a homeowner.

A Superior Court jury Tuesday made the award to Mrs. Isabelle Dailey. She sued claiming that rainwater backed up from a faulty storm drain and flooded her $36,000 house time and again.

The drop in the value of her house was estimated at $22,800. Mrs. Dailey also testified she spent $11,674 to replace furniture and appliances.

Some Odd-Ball Legislation Offered in State Assemblies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If some legislators had their way:

Blind persons could get hunting licenses.

Nudism would be outlawed.

Cigarette packages would bear skull and crossbones inscriptions.

Downtown Chicago would be a sand dune.

Bills calling for such laws were introduced in state legislatures this year. Some of the odd or whimsical measures even managed to become law. A tipsy water skier will find the sport even riskier if he performs on Iowa rivers and lakes.

Why? Legislators in the Hawkeye State decided some water skiers were flying too high and passed a law making it a misdemeanor to ride skis while under the influence.

Nudism came under scrutiny in Vermont and Missouri, the Show-Me State. But Missourians were having a tough time deciding which committee should handle the bill to ban nudism. The Appropriations Committee argued it deserved the measure because it deals with figures.

Some 40 sunlovers in Vermont's lone nudist colony can continue basking in the sun altogether, thanks to the defeat of an anti-nudist bill.

Wyoming considered, then defeated, a bill which would have permitted issuance of hunting licenses to blind persons. It would have required the actual shooting be done by another licensed hunter, with the game animal going to the blind person.

South Dakota's Senate thought all cigarette packs should bear a skull and crossbones stamp. The House considered the bill — then killed it. A similar measure died in the Utah Legislature.

Exasperated with attempts by Chicagoans to prevent industry from building on Indiana's Lake Michigan sand dunes, a Hoosier legislator proposed that Chicago's business district be converted into a sand dune.

The bill, which even provided for empty beer cans to give the proposed Chicago beach the proper picnic look, died in committee, almost before Chicagoans got wind of the matter.

Maine tried to straighten out the somewhat fuzzy provisions of its liquor law forbidding cocktail lounge patrons to stand and tavern customers to sit. Bills were drawn up to allow lounge patrons to arise and those in taverns to be seated.

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Hundreds of Davidians, convinced that "the fullness of time has come," start gathering here Thursday to await the beginning of a Middle East war April 22 and the return of Christ.

The sect, a divorced branch of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, has advised its members to "sever all earthly ties, if necessary," and to sell property that could not be brought with them to Waco.

Most of them will live in tents being erected near here on the 941-acre tract of the national headquarters, Mt. Carmel Center, which includes the sect's offices, church and 16 houses.

Beginning Saturday the Davidians will conduct three services each day until "God's kingdom is established."

Stamp Sought To Honor Ohio Music Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio congressman is trying to have a postage stamp issued to honor Daniel Decatur Emmett, Yankee composer of the rousing southern tune, "Dixie." So far, he is having no luck.

What Rep. Robert W. Levering (D-Ohio) wants is a stamp memorializing "uncle Dan" Emmett, a native of Mount Vernon, Ohio, for writing "Dixie" just 100 years ago this spring.

Levering tried the Post Office Department. He was turned down by L. Rohe Walter, special assistant to Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Walter wrote that the department fully appreciates the significance of "Dixie" but that the idea had to be rejected when there were so many applications and so few commemorative stamps issued.

Now Levering is asking the House Post Office Committee to ignore the Post Office Department's wishes and approve legislation authorizing a stamp for Emmett and "Dixie."

Levering said: "Despite the views of the principal bureaucrats charged with approving stamps and stamp designs... I can see no reason why a stamp cannot be issued."

Parents Held; Boy Doused with Liquor

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (AP) — A couple was jailed on suspicion of child beating Tuesday after their 7-year-old son accused his father of pouring whisky down his throat for refusing to eat.

The youngster, James Sams, was taken to a hospital, where doctors pumped his stomach and treated bruises on his face and neck. He told police his father shook him furiously because he wouldn't eat, then forced half a pint of whisky down his throat.

James R. Sams, 40, jailed with his wife Ethel, 43, denied it and told police: "I got five kids and they all love me. Every one of 'em."

Cincy Hotel Strike Ends

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati's six major hotels are back in business today after a strike. The Firemen & Oilers Union voted Tuesday night to accept a new contract with a 2½-cent hourly pay boost spread over three years.

Beginning Saturday the Davidians will conduct three services each day until "God's kingdom is established."

Most of them will live in tents being erected near here on the 941-acre tract of the national headquarters, Mt. Carmel Center, which includes the sect's offices, church and 16 houses.

Beginning Saturday the Davidians will conduct three services each day until "God's kingdom is established."

President Mum

able men the country has known. After telling of Dulles' decision to resign, Eisenhower then said he had made no final decision regarding a successor.

He said he will make and announce a decision as soon as possible.

In reply to a question, Eisenhower said that whether or not the job goes to Herter, the acting secretary definitely will be on hand for the United States at both an April 29 meeting of Western foreign ministers in Paris, and a May 11 conference of those ministers with the Soviet Union's foreign minister. That later conference will be held at Geneva and may be a prelude to a summit conference.

Eisenhower said Herter will go to both sessions regardless of whether he becomes secretary of state, because he is so familiar with the background and preparations.

A reporter asked Eisenhower to evaluate the impact of Dulles' resignation on U.S. foreign policy.

The President replied that Dulles has developed a team at the State Department and that his work will go on.

The President then expressed confidence that there will be no damage to U.S. relations with other countries.

Dulles, who is 71, had clung for weeks to the hope that he could make it to the Geneva meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers. But this time he was not to spring back, as he had before—for example, when he first was stricken with cancer in 1956.

Dulles re-entered Walter Reed Army Hospital here last Sunday, cutting short a Florida rest he had taken in an effort to build up his failing strength.

Dulles had gone to the hospital Feb. 10 for a hernia operation. Recurrence of cancer was then discovered. But, whereas the doctors had taken out a piece of his large intestine in 1956, there was no effort this time to cure by surgery.

Massive radiation treatments were tried, and Dulles was reported to have stood these well. His strength always has been much greater than most men's, and hope was held that he would get back on the job.

When Dulles came back from Florida, there was no question but that he had deteriorated badly. Newsmen who had seen him fairly constantly figured he had lost 15 to 20 pounds of his normal 185. His face looked wasted; his clothes hung loosely.

Dulles himself said: "I feel pretty good."

But then Tuesday came the report indicating the cancer may have spread.

Throughout Dulles' illness, Democrats as well as Republicans were pulling for him. In fact, he had many Democratic friends, some of them dated back to the time when he worked with Cordell Hull, who was President Franklin D. Roosevelt's secretary of state.

Dulles had many critics, too, in the political-diplomatic field. Some accused him of an arrogant carelessness and said he had casually brought the United States to the brink of war time after time. "Brinkmanship" became a word of scorn.

His supporters have been as strong in the other direction. Eisenhower, for an important example, once called him "one of the wisest, most courageous and most dedicated men" ever to serve as head of the State Department. Other admirers agreed he had preserved peace.

Antagonism toward Dulles was often apparent in Allied capitals, where the charge came frequently that he was too eager to provoke the Soviet Union.

The Communist Soviet Union never let up on its criticism. It called Dulles a warmonger, with all conceivable adjectives.

Dulles became secretary of state on Jan. 21, 1953. He had been prepared for the position through most of his adult life and had been active in foreign affairs for years.

Dulles became a figure on the world stage toward the end of World War II when he was serving as foreign affairs adviser to the Republican presidential candidate, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dulles relaxed mainly by flying to his private duck island retreat in Lake Ontario. Whenever the opportunity arose, he would fly by special Air Force plane to Syracuse and then board a small amphibian plane which would land in the water near the isolated island. With his wife, Dulles would then relax in rustic cabin which had no electricity or running water. He rigged a device whereby he could scoop up the lake water he needed for personal and cooking uses.

While there, he has told friends, he liked to relax by chopping wood and helping Mrs. Dulles with household chores, including washing dishes and polishing copper pots and pans.

Rubber Industry Facing Walkout

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — United Rubber Workers contracts with Goodyear, Firestone and B. F. Goodrich expire at midnight tonight, and union sources here expressed doubt that agreement can be reached by then.

The other member of the rubber industry's Big Four, the United States Rubber Co., was trucked by the union last Friday morning when contract expiration was reached. Negotiations are continuing in New York City between the union and U.S. Rubber, which employs about 26,000 production workers.

The union is negotiating in Cleveland with Goodyear and Firestone and in Canton, Ohio, with the B. F. Goodrich Co. There are about 55,000 production workers affected by these talks.

In all of the negotiations wages are not at issue but are due for discussion during the coming summer. Bargaining is on pension and insurance programs, supplemental unemployment benefits, job security and other matters.

Union sources here indicated no decision will be announced until close to the midnight deadline on what the union's course of action will be if the three contracts expire without an agreement.

The membership already has voted authorization for strike action.

Meanwhile, several major steel producers have indicated they will accept a union challenge.

Jury Starts To Ponder Nicholas Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A jury of 12 husbands will begin deliberations today on the fate of divorcee Connie Nicholas, accused of murdering her wealthy married lover after he jilted her for a younger woman.

The three attorneys defending the 45-year-old, twice-divorced secretary have tried to convince the jury the killing of Forrest Teel, 54, could have occurred either accidentally or in self-defense.

Prosecutor Phillip L. Bayt and two trial deputies contend they have proved, through circumstantial evidence, that Mrs. Nicholas planned the shooting.

Neither side has questioned the main facts—that Teel, a high executive of a big drug firm, was shot to death in his car last July 31 after an evening in the apartment of Laura Mowrer, his new girl friend, and that Mrs. Nicholas held the gun.

But the defense contends, and Mrs. Nicholas testified, that her tiny .25-caliber French revolver fired when Teel seized and wrenched her arm after she threatened to shoot herself.

After the shooting she drove her own car to a secluded creek bank and swallowed 75 sleeping pills, mixed in fruit juice. She was near death when found nearly 20 hours later.

A number of threats, warning that Castro will never leave the country alive, have alarmed authorities. Demonstrations and picketing are expected during his five-day stay in the capital and a similar visit in New York.

But his visit apparently will be a hit attraction. The National Press Club said the 505 seats for its luncheon next Monday honoring Castro were sold out in less than an hour.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, at whose invitation Castro arranged the visit, prepared for a capacity crowd for the Friday meeting he will address.

Castro is hoping his visit will improve Cuba's relations with the United States and Canada. He has volunteered to answer questions about some of the points on which his regime has been criticized.

Liability Upheld In Auto Accident

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Supreme Court of Ohio today refused to review an appeal by Donna Lee Ritchey from an Erie County Appellate Court decision holding her liable for injuries received by Rosemarie Elfers, Sandusky, a passenger in a car involved in a traffic accident near Washington Court House in 1955.

Miss Ritchey was driving a car in which four girls were on their way to Florida under a pool arrangement for the quartet to share expenses. The Appellate Court said Miss Elfers was a paying passenger, rather than a guest, because of the financial arrangement.

Reds To Offer Auto

BOSTON (AP)—A Soviet trade official says the Soviet Union will introduce one of its automobile lines here in June.

to freeze steel prices only on condition that the union agree to freeze wages.

The union earlier made it clear it won't agree to freeze wages.

The position of the producers emerged Tuesday in unofficial responses to a letter from David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, to 12 major steel producers.

McDonald had said the producers, because of increased productivity and profits, could afford to grant wage increases to the half-million members of his union without raising the price of steel.

Even if the steel industry agrees to freeze prices, McDonald said, the union will insist on higher wages and other benefits.

Last week the union turned down a proposal from the steel industry that it agree to a one-year freeze on wages and benefits.

Joseph L. Block, chairman of the Inland Steel Co., was the first to indicate industry's response. He told a group of security analysts here Tuesday night that "holding the line on wages would enable us to hold the line on steel prices, and these two cannot be separated from each other despite some statements to the contrary."

In the same speech, Block said Inland Steel's first quarter earnings, to be announced next week, would break all records. Production, sales and profits would also set records for the full year, he said, if there were no strikes.

The first of the big steel producers to make known its profit figures for the first quarter, Jones & Laughlin, fourth largest in the industry, Tuesday reported a record-breaking net income of $15,738,000 for the first quarter of this year. That was more than 14 million over net income for the same period last year.

A spokesman for the United States Steel Corp., biggest in the industry, said its position on wage-price freezing is essentially the same as that expressed by Block, that any price freeze would have to follow a wage freeze.

A new contract is to be negotiated to replace one that expires June 30.

Capital Alert For Visit by Cuba's Castro

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro will arrive tonight for what promises to be a stormy 11-day unofficial visit to the United States.

State Department security agents and Washington police have arranged to give him one of the tightest protective rings ever given a foreign visitor.

Castro, accompanied by a heavy guard of bearded revolutionary protectors, will fly in with a party of about 35 persons in a chartered Cuban government C54 transport.

A number of threats, warning that Castro will never leave the country alive, have alarmed authorities. Demonstrations and picketing are expected during his five-day stay in the capital and a similar visit in New York.

But his visit apparently will be a hit attraction. The National Press Club said the 505 seats for its luncheon next Monday honoring Castro were sold out in less than an hour.

Bob Litter Firm Purchases Coal Yard from Rader Bros.

Another change has been completed in Circleville's business world.

The Thomas Rader and Sons Coal Yard, Pickaway and Corwin Sts., has been purchased by the Bob Litter Fuel and Heating Co. Inc. The changeover was completed April 1.

The coal yard had been operated here by Guy and Frank Rader since August of 1919, marking 40 years of service to local coal consumers. Thomas Rader, Guy and Frank's father, operated the firm prior to 1919.

The Litter Company operates a fuel and heating store on W. Main St. and similar enterprises in Chillicothe and Waverly. Robert Litter, a son of the owner, will operate the newly purchased coal yard here.

THE NEW manager said the coal yard would feature the same line of materials handled by the Raders plus additional products such as complete lines of building materials, tile, heating systems, appliances and paint.

Litter said plans are being made for future expansion and remodeling to handle the new products. Plans also include a bottled gas bulk plant at the coal yard.

Most of the coal handled by the yard here comes by rail from Kentucky and West Virginia. The products are for both commercial and domestic uses.

Litter said he will have approximately five trucks to serve local customers. Purchasers also may bring their own vehicles to the yard for pick-up sales.

Court Handles OMVI Charge

A motorist cited for driving under the influence of intoxicants was included in three traffic cases handled in Circleville Municipal Court today.

The intoxicated driving count was against Ora B. Messer, 39, Columbus. It marked his second conviction for driving under the influence. He was arrested in Franklin County last year on a similar charge.

In view of this second arrest, the court fined Messer $200 and costs, sentenced him to 10 days in jail and suspended his driver's license for one year.

The accused driver, involved in an accident here, also was fined $10 and costs for failure to yield the right of way. He was cited by the sheriff's department.

TWO ARRESTS by the State Highway Patrol were: Leonard L. Cole, 35, Marion; $30 and costs for speeding at 80 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone. Aimo Gustaf Maunus, 43, Norwalk; $10 and costs for driving left of center.

Eighth Grade Tests To Be Given Friday

The annual eighth grade test will be given at 9 a. m. Friday to all county school eighth graders.

Deercreek, Jackson, Perry and Monroe will meet at a designated location to take the test as a group. Other combinations are Darby and Scioto; Pickaway, Washington and Salt Creek; and Ashville Harrison, Walnut, South Bloomfield and Duval.

The test will consist of a battery of four tests. Included are arithmetic, English, American history and general information, which will have approximately 10 items on Ohio history and science.

It is expected that two hours will be sufficient time to administer the test. The County Board of Education will furnish the tests and pay for the cost of machine scoring.

County certificates will be presented to those who rank in the upper 25 per cent. State certificates will be awarded to those who rank in the high one per cent.

Blonde, 18, Is Held for Urge To Kill

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—A beautiful blonde typist was jailed in a murder investigation today, accused of pumping 18 bullets into the body of a gardener to satisfy an urge for a human target.

Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore quoted Rosemarie Diane Bjorkland, 18, as saying:

"I had a terrible urge to kill someone ever since I started target shooting as a hobby. I wanted a human target."

August Norry, 28, a golf course gardener, was found dead in the hills south of San Francisco on Feb. 1.

It was his custom to go there to dump grass cuttings and garden debris.

His body had been riddled by 18 bullets.

Sheriff Whitmore said Miss Bjorkland related she had met Norry twice before, as she was shooting at targets, while he emptied his gardening bags.

Whitmore again quoted the girl: "I used to go up there and point my pistol at a target pretending it that day was my target."

"Suddenly I had the overpowering urge to shoot him. I kept shooting, emptying my gun and reloading. That was the only reason. There was no other."

Arms Waste Must Be Halted

Talking about cutting the military's share of the federal budget is like waving a red flag in the face of a bull, according to the reactions of some Congressmen. There is a sanctimonious aura of respectability attached to military spending, no matter how inflated, which even unending examples of waste and inefficiency are unable to dent.

Instead of seeking ways of trimming the recurrent waste in military expenditures, some influential members of Congress seem continually bent on increasing the sum. Before one accepts the rubber stamp OK of those who continually approve higher military spending, a few facts should be noted about this $41 billion annual outlay.

It is more than $1 billion higher than the appropriations requested by the administration for the same services one year ago. Virtually every facet of the over-all defense structure reflected in the budget has been increased. Even this, however, could be excused in light of uncertain world conditions — the paramount explanation offered in defense of increasing spending — if it were not for the waste included therein.

Last year $7.5 billion went down the drain because of poor planning, obsolescence and duplication by the military services. The Air Force, for example, incorporated a technical change in its flight helmets last year. Instead of using the stock it had on hand, which cost the taxpayers $825,000, the helmets were sold as surplus for $41,000.

Beef Price Stability Noted

Cattle and calf slaughter in the United States last year was below average and down 5.2 million head from 1957. Importations from Canada and Mexico brought the cattle total up, as always happens when prices firm in the U. S. There was an actual gain of 3.5 million head of cattle last year.

In the "beef cycle" the U. S. is now in the rebuilding phase. Stockmen are increasing their herds because prices are stable and profits are in sight. When all of these herds are ready for marketing, slaughter totals may be such that the price will break. Forecasters believe the break, if it comes, is three to five years away.

Frankie Laine Eyes Bard

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Frankie Laine, who quit show business five times before he became a star, has been bitten by the acting bug. So when'll he play Hamlet?

"Not right now," said the song belter. "I'm not ready for Shakespeare yet. That's a rough school. But in another five years I might be crazy enough to try it." Acting is not without its perils, he has found. He wasn't so lucky practicing drawing his six shooter for a part in a television piece.

"The first time I skinned my finger," he said. "And the second time I dropped the gun and nearly broke a toe."

Frankie has sold more than 30 million records in the last dozen years.

Why, since his voice brings down money in a golden shower, waste it on straight acting?

"The fear of trying something new is often what defeats people," said Laine. "There is no standing still in this business. The day you aren't willing to take a step forward is the day you've already started going backward."

Frankie, the son of a Chicago barber, isn't frightened by the possibility of failure. It took him 16 years to reach the top as a singer. During that period he slept at times on park benches, worked as an office boy, dancing teacher, shipping clerk, auto salesman and machinist.

"The first lesson I had to learn was to be myself," he recalled. "I did what everybody else was doing. And I was a dud."

"In 1936 I decided I'd quit imitating others."

It took another decade before his big-voice style caught on. Five times he quit in disgust. Five times he came back and tried again.

"The last time, I quit a $150 a-week factory job, because I couldn't see spending my life looking at the same four walls," he said. "I figured that it would take me 20 years to work up to an executive job."

Soon after taking a job in a Hollywood night spot, Frankie clicked with a recording. His first royalty check was for $36,000.

"I often wonder what would have happened to me if I hadn't been willing to make that one last try," he said.

"But it doesn't worry me. I can lie down 20 minutes before going on the air and take a nap. My wife, Nan, and I both have faith. We believe there's a reason for everything that happens in life."

The Laines and their two teenage daughters, Pam and Jan, are very close.

"When you boil it down," said Frankie, "the family is the most important unity in your life."

Ilya Ehrenburg led the attack against Jewish writers as being cosmopolitan, non-patriotic and Zionist. This he did at the grave of almost 800 Yiddish poets, writers, and novelists who had been executed at the behest of Stalin.

Karl Marx descended from a rabbinical family but his father, Heschel Marx, accepted Christianity in 1816 in order to practice law in Prussia — a state in which no Jew could then practice law. In a word, Marx's father was converted to Christianity for economic reasons. This is Karl Marx's solution to the problem of the Jewish religion:

"The stiffest form of opposition between Jew and Christian is religious. How is it to be resolved? By making it impossible. How can this be achieved? By abolishing religion. As soon as Jew and Christian recognize their respective religions as different stages in the evolution of the human spirit, as successive snake-skins shed by history — man being the snake that bore them all — they will no longer stand in a religious relationship to each other, but in a critical, scientific, human relationship."

What Marx thought of religion is perhaps best stated in these lines:

"... But since the existence of religion is the existence of a defect, the source of this defect can be sought only in the nature of the state. We hold that religion is no longer the operating cause but the result of human limitation. We therefore derive the religious small-mindedness of free citizens from their general small-mindedness."

"We do not maintain that they must abolish their religious limitations in order to abolish their

When the Air Force abandoned its Navy-jet missile program $750 million was lost. A $444 million investment was written off by the Air Force in its abandonment of the Rascal and Goose missiles.

Mistakes in judgment by the Navy cost the taxpayers $278 million when that service abandoned its anti-aircraft missile Regulus and an experimental seaplane.

Obsolescence cannot be blamed for such extravagance. If adequate planning preceded the inauguration of projects running into the hundreds of millions, obsolescence could not set in a few months later—even before one prototype has been produced.

The examples cited merely constitute the larger military wastes not satisfactorily explained. There are many fields in which two or even all three of the major services are duplicating efforts, as witness the Jupiter-Thor missiles. After spending $700 million on the Jupiter 1,500-mile range missile, the Army turned the program over to the Air Force, which has spent at least a similar amount developing the Thor, an identical missile.

It would not be stretching the point to estimate that 10 per cent of the $41 billion requested for the coming year by the Defense Department will be spent for armaments which never materialize. This waste provides ample slack not only for increased expenditures in necessary programs, but a reduction in overall defense costs.

There is evidence, however, that cattle-men are learning more about these price cycles and are doing a better job of fitting supply to demand. Then, too, the demand for beef constantly increases with the population when economic conditions are good.

Marx Was Worst Anti-Semite

Soviet anti-Semitism, as expressed by Stalin and Khrushchev, is normal to the Russian environment. Khrushchev, who hails from the Russo-Ukrainian border, lived in the most anti-Semitic area in the world. It was in this region that the notorious Kishinev massacres occurred.

But there is a further matter that cannot be ignored: Karl Marx, although born of Jews, was himself a vicious anti-Semite, a hater of his own people. On this subject, a book has recently been published by The Wisdom Library, entitled "Karl Marx — a World Without Jews."

Dagobert D. Runes who writes an introduction to this miserable volume says:

"... In the middle of the nineteenth century anti-Semitism was mainly a religious and social, not a racial, issue, and among converts such as Karl Marx are to be found vitriolic enemies of Judaism. The convert as a tool in the hands of professional Jew baiters is to be found as early as the Middle Ages in the person of the Jew Pfefferkorn who assisted in attempts to put Jewish sacred literature to the torch."

"And little more than 10 years ago in the Soviet Union, the Jew

New Antibiotics on Market

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Ask most anybody to name an antibiotic and chances are the one named will be penicillin.

A physician, however, would give you the names of a number of others. But I doubt that he could name them all without referring to his medical book.

Take, for example, penicillin. It was first made available to physicians some 17 years ago. Since then, more and more antibiotics have been developed. Now they are coming on the market so fast that it is almost impossible for most doctors to keep up with all of them.

Among the newest antibiotics are these:

Tao, which boasts a new mechanism of antibiotic action. According to its manufacturers, its "starburst" effect shows seven distinct clinical advantages over most existing anti-microbial drugs.

It reportedly is effective against strains of bacteria which resist penicillin and other antibiotics. Moreover, its high stability in gastric juice enables it to enter the intestine and be absorbed in the bloodstream without being destroyed in the stomach.

Vancocin is another new antibiotic which reportedly works when some others fail. Research reports, after four years of trials, that Vancocin is indicated for many patients seriously ill with infections caused by various gram-positive organisms, such as staphylococci, which resist most other antibiotics. It does however have certain limitations and possible side effects with which physicians are familiar.

Urobiotic is a new broad-spectrum antibiotic for treatment of urinary infections. Administered orally, it provides a multiple antimicrobial approach at the site of the infection.

Taomid is a new antibiotic. It combines Tao with three sulfonamides and is used for treatment of common and mixed genito-urinary tract infections and upper respiratory diseases.

The antibiotic - chemotherapeutic combination reportedly provides greater convenience, range of effectiveness and safety in control of mixed infections than each drug administered separately to the patient.

Humatin is a new oral antibiotic which has been used successfully in treating patients with intestinal amebiasis, an infection originating in the large intestine.

And these, mind you, are just a few of the newest antibiotics.

The World Today

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst
The Soviets have buzzed another U.S. plane in what looks like a deliberate attempt to spread panic among the Western Allies in advance of the summit meeting. The incident calls for serious and honest thinking in the West.

Are these incidents part of a Khrushchev plan to bully the West into attitudes of what the British choose to call flexibility? That seems the case. If the attempts succeed, the West may be courting disaster.

Khrushchev may be trying to get across the idea that unless at least some of his demands are met, there is grave danger of world war. The initiative for war obviously is not in the hands of the democracies, which seem to have resigned themselves to the idea that if war comes, the other side must attack first.

Thus, Western policy would seem to be one of preparing for vengeance, not for defense. It even indicates there is no such thing as defense in today's world.

In effect, Khrushchev is saying: Can you gamble that I will not be reckless enough to push the button? If you cannot, then let's talk business. Khrushchev wants and perhaps desperately needs to show some sort of results at home from the forthcoming conferences.

If there is to be no recourse to war, then defense must begin at the political level. Are the Western statesmen approaching the summit with the deck stacked again then?

Khrushchev can win, because any concession to him at any point will be a Khrushchev victory. He can hardly emerge from the summit with anything less than a standoff, preserving things as they are now in Germany and waiting for yet another chance to probe the West's soft spots. But he can do much better than that.

Already Khrushchev has the satisfaction of seeing the Western Allies divided in their summit approach. Attempts to minimize the division simply add up to more confusion.

This would seem to be a moment in history when frankness—or to be blunt, honesty—might be advisable in informing the Western world of its position.

The British, for example, might use plain English. Prime Minister Macmillan's right-hand man, Home Secretary R. A. Butler, declared Tuesday there were no real differences between Britain and Germany on dealing with Khrushchev except on matters of emphasis and tactics. But there surely are differences, and even if these are tactical they are gravely important.

Chancellor Adenauer—and many Americans agree with him—suggests the British are using the wrong words. Flexibility indicates concession, backing down at some point along the line. In a word, then, it means surrender, and surrender on any point at issue in Germany is bound to be dangerous.

The British themselves learned in 1939 they could not buy off a man bent on conquest. Hitler clearly announced his plans in advance. Just as clearly the Communists have made their intentions plain. The Communists, said Lenin, intend to "move step by step, maintaining a state which is neither war nor peace; proceed by alternating offensives and retreats, but always work through Communist conspiracy." Two steps forward, one step back, Lenin preached, but never give up what you grab.

The West surely is aware that Khrushchev at the summit will be Khrushchev the international Communist who has boasted many times of his devotion to Lenin's notions of world revolution. What ever he wins not only will strengthen his hand at home but will be another step in the Communist program for piecemeal conquest of its enemies.

Now He Hopes Gin To Be of Quality

TOLEDO, Ohio (P)—In Jamaica on vacation, Fred McIlvaine heard of the hike in liquor prices in Ohio. So he bought five bottles of gin, dirt cheap and tax free.

McIlvaine guarded his treasure carefully on a 500-mile cruise through the Bahamas to Miami, then in his crowded automobile on a 1,500 mile drive to Toledo.

Arriving at his home here Monday, McIlvaine proudly unloaded the box containing his gin and dropped it, crash, to the sidewalk. He stood aghast as liquid trickled out of the box.

Fortunately, only one bottle broke. McIlvaine still had four with which to console himself over the saving he didn't make.

Distinguished Briton Booked In TV Drama

NEW YORK (AP) — Sir John Gielgud is making his first appearance on American television next week simply because he has always wanted to play "The Browning Version" by Terence Rattigan.

"It's a wonderful play," he said during a break in rehearsals for the "Du Pont Show of the Month" production which will be seen on CBS-TV April 23 (8 p.m., EST).

The distinguished British actor was offered the leading role when the play opened in London several years ago. He liked the play and the part then, but declined to appear in it because the one-act drama was in a double billing of two one-act plays—and he didn't care much for the other play.

"It was one of those times when I guessed wrong," he said. The drama that brought Sir John on a special trip to America is a play about the ordeal of an English schoolmaster who has dedicated his life to teaching indifferent boys the classics. Betrayed by his wife, depressed by his students, he finally realizes a small but enduring triumph.

Margaret Leighton plays his wife in the TV production directed by John Frankenheimer.

As far as can be recalled, this is the first time that a one act play of less than an hour has been expanded into a 90-minute TV drama. Sir John said he believed the drama had been expanded effectively by adapters Audrey Gellen and Jacqueline Babbitt.

12 Potteries Shut Down by Union Walkout

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) —Production ceased today at a dozen potteries in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

About 7,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters struck at midnight Tuesday when no agreement was reached on the union's demand for wage increases.

Only maintenance workers were on duty this morning. It was the first general walkout in the pottery industry since 1922, when there was a 10-week strike.

The 12 companies are members of the U.S. Potters Assn., which held a two-year contract with the union, effective until Oct. 1. However, the contract provided for a re-opening of the wage question, and it was on this issue that the strike was called.

All the plants make dinnerware. Negotiations began April 7, but were broken off Sunday in Pittsburgh.

The union demanded wage increases of 40 cents an hour. Under the contract the minimum for women was $1.41 and for men $1.63.

The association said the companies are losing money and cannot afford wage increases. It proposed mandatory arbitration, but the union declined.

Personal Tax Deadline Near

State Agents Ferret
Out Delinquents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It's now or never for most federal income tax payers, but there are 15 days left to pay the Ohio personal property tax. The deadline is April 30.

And because there's a tendency in some quarters to overlook the state tax, the Ohio Department of Taxation has more than 40 examiners out looking for potential payers. Last year they found 25,227.

"This isn't a concentrated campaign," says George S. Simpson, acting chief of the department's Personal Property Division. "Working through county auditors' offices, our men are in the field throughout the year."

Revenue from the state property tax goes to local governments—through the county—for support of schools, health, library programs, police and fire departments, and similar activities. The rate varies with the rate for real estate and public utility property in each tax district.

Anyone who's in business to make an income—individual, partner, or member of a corporation or association—has to file.

The tax also takes in corporation stockholders, and holders of bonds, notes or land contracts. It's based on ownership of personal property as of Jan. 1 (or dividends paid) and is paid for the present year, as opposed to the federal income tax, which is usually paid for the year past.

The pay period starts Feb. 15, and part of the payment can be made in September. Ten per cent is usually added for failure to file.

Last year about 155 million was paid on personal property, and another 31 million on intangible property. The 26,227 delinquent payers contributed about 9½ million.

Ironton Man, 70, Killed While Scavenging Coal

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Milton Forman, 71, of Rt. 3, Ironton, gave his life for a few pieces of coal. Coroner Harry Nenni said Forman apparently had been trying to dig coal from an abandoned strip mine eight miles north of here. A large sandstone and other debris fell on him, crushing him.

He had been dead 24 to 48 hours when some children came upon his body Tuesday, the coroner said.

French Comic Says Hollywood Unreal, Bound by Schedules

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jacques Tati's funny French films have been noted for their incisive slants on people and places. Here's his view of Hollywood:

"The place seems so unreal. Even the shops with their glittering facades appear to be only the fronts of movie sets. I am sure that they have backs to them. Every day that I leave my hotel, I expect to come back and find that it has been taken down and another set put up in its place."

Village Gets Order On Sewage Plant

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ottawa County village of Genoa has until June to come up with a plan for treating sewage polluting a small stream which flows into Lake Erie.

Village officials appeared before the Water Pollution Control Board here today, and the board continued the hearing for 60 days without renewing the village sewage discharge permit which expired in December.

Genoa has no sewage treatment plant, and village officials are seeking to reduce the estimated $400,000 cost of building one. State Health Department authorities say this is not an unusually high cost. If the village fails to act, the board could start legal action.

people here warm and friendly. He has long been admired in Hollywood as one of the world's great laugh-makers, and the town was delighted that his film "My Uncle" won the Oscar for best foreign language picture.

What about reports that he might make a movie here? "I have had talks about it," he remarked. "But I don't believe it would ever be possible."

"I like to shoot slowly. It is not terribly expensive, because I use a small crew. But I do not like to be rushed. If I want to get the right shot of a dog in the street, I will stay there all day until the dog does exactly what I want it to."

"They don't understand that here any more. You've got schedules, schedules, schedules. If a director doesn't come in on schedule, he is in trouble."

Tati explained that he takes about two and a half months to make a movie, and spends many months in preparation. "My Uncle" took longer, because it was filmed in two languages.

He is a one-man production gang, since he writes, directs, produces and stars in the films.

Japanese Volcano Spews Smoke, Ashes

NAGANO, Japan (AP) — Mt. Asama, one of few active volcanoes in Japan, erupted violently today, sending smoke and ashes 22,000 feet high. Wind-blown ashes sifted down on Tokyo and Yokohama, 85 miles to the southeast.

The observatory at Karuizawa said the eruption rumbled and shook the earth for about eight minutes.

There were no reports of casualties.

Woman Claims Ignorance in Scalding Death

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A housewife who fatally burned her 7-year-old stepdaughter by putting her in a tub of scalding water says she did not realize the water was so hot.

The 31-year-old woman, Rita Roubidoux, was free on her own recognizance today and is to appear Thursday for a psychiatric examination. Coroner Paul Hohly gave her permission Monday to stay with her mother in Detroit until then.

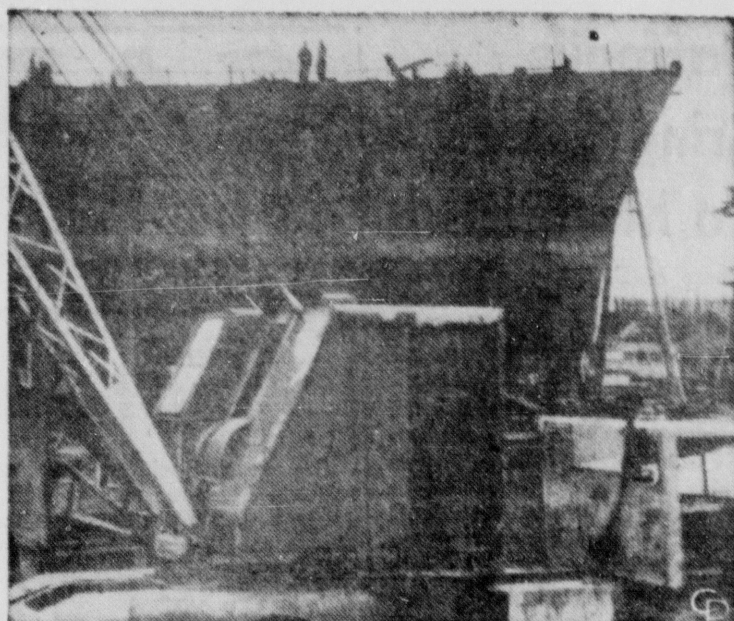

Last Sunday, Mrs. Roubidoux phoned a mortuary to report that she had found the girl, Vonita, dead.

Investigation showed that the girl had been burned early Saturday morning and had received no treatment.

Detective Capt. Alfred Bartok said Mrs. Roubidoux told him Monday the girl was unkempt, unclean and a chronic bed-wetter.

Sometime after midnight Friday, the woman said, she found Vonita wet and decided to use a bath for punishment because the girl did not like baths.

Mrs. Roubidoux said she put the child in the tub without realizing that she had drawn only hot water instead of a mixture of hot and cold.

Conservancy District Plan Is Modified

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A modified plan adding 28 more miles to the Tiffin River project was approved today by the directors of the Maumee Watershed Conservancy District.

The new plan goes to the 15-judge court, which, if it approves the plan, will appoint a board of appraisers to survey the benefits and damages which will arise. The proposal calls for clearing the Tiffin from its junction with the Maumee River, north to a point two miles south of Stryker. The original plan called for widening the river 25 miles north from Stryker, where surveys showed inadequate drainage.

Improvements, as proposed, can be made only if an appraisal shows benefits will exceed estimated costs.

The three active projects in the plan are: Tiffin River, $1,276,000; Little Auglaize River and three tributaries $960,000, and Grassy Creek, $571,000.

The cost of the Grassy Creek plan will be borne by the Ohio

Highway Department, explained directors, since the drainage from three relocated federal highways will also be carried in the same diversion channel. This project is also for flood prevention in Perrysburg and Rossford, Toledo suburbs.

The other two projects are for improvement of major drainage outlets and reduction of flooding.

The district's official plan also includes seven projects proposed on a deferred basis, pending studies by the Corps of Engineers and others. These include projects on the Blanchard, St. Marys, St. Joseph and Upper Auglaize rivers, and Flatrock, Hog and Gordon creeks.

Join the ADS If You Want To Specialize

Separating the men from the boys, garden-wise, are the gardeners who have a specialty. Horticulturally speaking, a gardener is not "fullgrown" until he settles on a particular species of plant to which he dedicates some part of his gardening time.

Now that the daffodils are at their best, fanciers would do well to consider specializing in this satisfying spring flower.

And how does one become a specialist in daffodils? A good way to start is by joining the National Daffodil Society, an association of amateur and professional growers who share their knowledge.

ADS issues publications, sponsors research, conducts an annual symposium of leading varieties, encourages local daffodil shows and offers awards.

A TWO-DAY convention is held annually at the end of which a daffodil judges' school is conducted.

And the only qualification for membership in the ADS is an interest in daffodils.

The annual membership is $3. Make applications to Mrs. William A. Bridges 10 Othoridge Road, Lutherville, Md.

Daffodil fanciers joining the organization receive:

The Daffodil Yearbook, uniquely authoritative compilation of information by scientists, commercial growers, and fanciers;

Quarterly bulletins covering current activities;

An invitation to attend the annual convention of the society;

An opportunity to become an accredited judge of daffodils;

A chance to rate your daffodils and report your findings to the symposium committee;

Technical advice on all phases of daffodil culture and breeding;

Access to Kodachrome slide collection and the society's library.

The privilege of joining in regional activities, exhibiting daffodils, and competing for ADS awards.

3 Reporters To Form Panel At AP Parley

NEW YORK (AP)—Three analysts and reporters of international news will participate in a panel discussion next Monday during the annual meeting of The Associated Press.

U.S. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson will be principal speaker at the annual AP luncheon the same day.

The panel of AP newsmen will be composed of Harold K. Mills, until recently chief of the Moscow bureau; John Hightower, diplomatic reporter who has covered the U.S. State Department since 1943; and William L. Ryan, foreign news analyst.

Kenneth MacDonald, vice president and editor of the Des Moines (Iowa) Register and Tribune and a director of The Associated Press, will be moderator of the discussion to be held during the afternoon session of the annual meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Expert's Corner

Editor's Note: Robert L. Brehmer, local florist and one of Pickaway County's foremost authorities on horticulture in all its phases, will again contribute timely articles to The Herald Garden Page. This is the first of his articles and includes advice on pruning, lawns and roses.

PRUNING

Beware of 'Prunitis'. Some folks just go wild when they get a pair of pruning shears in their hands. Know something about the subject you are working on. Shrubs that bloom in spring, should not be trimmed until after they have bloomed. The flowers occur on the new wood produced by the plant, the year before.

Climbing roses that have big blooming period in June, should not be pruned until after they have bloomed.

Privet and most hedge plants may be cut back very severely in spring to encourage new growth from the base, to overcome the bare look at the base of the hedge.

FIRETHORN needs to be trimmed frequently to control its rapid growth and to keep it in the shape that you desire. If your firethorn failed to bloom and to have berries, very probably it is due to scab disease that is not evident to the eye, but which prevents fruiting. Spray for firethorn scab, three times at 10-day intervals, early in the spring, using Captan or Phaltan.

As lilacs become older, the heavy old wood should be removed since it harbors scale and borers. Buddieia (Butterfly Bush) should be cut back to the ground each spring for best flowering results. Tamarix should be given the same treatment and this will result in a fountain like growth each season.

LAWNS

Lawns have not suffered as much from the severe winter, as have evergreens and roses. Early spring care can do a lot toward a more beautiful summer lawn. If you decide to sow some grass seed to thicken your lawn, do not try to get it to grow by sprinkling the seed on bare, hard-surfaced soil. Either cover the seed with a thin layer of sand or soil, or rough up the soil and rake in the seeds, for seed is wasted that is not covered.

Fertilizer applied to the lawn now will benefit the lawn most for it encourages deeper rooting when applied in the spring and helps the lawn to survive better during the hot summer days.

Do not roll the lawn under any consideration, since rolling will do more harm than good. Air must get into the soil and rolling compacts the soil and impedes growth. Bumpy lawns are usually due to night-crawler activity, and the remedy is to get rid of the night-crawlers.

Lawn care firms such as O. M. Scott furnish materials that will rid the lawn of night-crawlers, chiggers, webworms and other insects. When you get rid of the insects you also get rid of the moles, which live only on insects and grubs.

NEW LAWN compounds are now available to rid the lawn of crab grass as it starts to sprout from the seed and these should be applied now. After application of the new crab grass materials, new lawn should not be applied

Daffodils Bring Cheer To Motorists

Come April, one of the heart-warming sights along Route 56 about four miles east of Circleville, is the fence planting of daffodils at the Howard Lane farm.

Each year, for perhaps an eighth of a mile, along each side of the highway Howard Lane's double daffodils bloom. Bright and cheerful yellow, they are, contrasting to the grass which surrounds them.

Lane is expected home from Arizona where he spends the winters. No doubt he tries to make it back to Ohio in time to see his daffodils.

Motorists along Route 56, incidentally, feel that Lane planted the daffodils just for their enjoyment. For it is they who see and take pleasure in them.

THESE OLD-FASHIONED double daffodils have been growing along the fences on either side of the road for more than 10 years. Each year the bulbs seem to increase in beauty.

And that, of course, is the reason why daffodils are such a practical flower to plant. Horticulturists say that the daffodil bulb is a perennial bulb. The same bulb will bloom and last for many years and in the meantime the bulbets which it manufactures will have a chance to grow, take on strength and bloom in due time.

This, of course, is in contrast to your modern hybrid tulip which is an annual bulb.

Tulips have to grow, bloom and manufacture a new bulb strong enough to bloom the following year. The old bulb dies each year. Only a newly manufactured bulb can bloom the following year.

It must have been a lot of work for Howard Lane to have planted all those daffodils. But ask any motorist, he'll tell you that it's a mighty pretty sight.

If you lose these tender shoots, you have lost the rose.

Since hybrid tea roses are budded or grafted onto wild rose roots, new wild rose shoots may grow from the understock and these should be removed. Wild rose shoots are always vigorous growers and can be identified on hybrid tea roses because the good rose shoots have only five leaves on each leaf stem and the wild rose leaves have more than five leaves on them. This test can be applied to floribundas, many of which normally have more than five leaves to the leaf stem.

If in doubt, trace the stem back to its source and if it originates below the bulge at the base of the rose, it is a wild rose. For best results, trim back your roses when active growth starts and then the cut will heal immediately.

Garden Gossip

The gossip column last week sounded like the Wailing Wall of Jerusalem. We did not have more than a couple of cheerful things to tell.

We felt exactly as did John Custis, resident of Colonial Williamsburg, who complained in his diary that three or four hard winters followed by hot dry summers had "demolished all my flowers and a great many of my best greens so that I am out of heart of endeavoring anything but what is hardy and Virginia proof".

Mrs. James Moffitt, E. Franklin St., widely known for her luck with roses is "out of heart" as far as her roses are concerned. When she replaces them it's going to be with the grandifloras which she feels are a harder strain. "Although," she laughingly admitted, "even my grandifloras did not come through."

The forsythia at the Presbyterian manse is a thing of beauty this year. This particular forsythia puts on a good show every spring. Forsythia in a good many places has been something of a disappointment so far. I think I'll ask The Reverend if I may have a cutting from his bush.

Carlton Lees, horticulturist at Kingwood Center, and speaker at the garden shindig in Canal Winchester, certainly likes castor beans. "What", he said, "is a garden without a castor bean?" He and Virginia Replogle are in complete agreement on castor beans. She uses them with beautiful effect in her garden.

MRS. SHELBY Teegardin, Watt St., says it takes castor beans forever to germinate unless you soak them overnight in water or cut a slit in the shell of the seed.

Castor beans are poison. But it's beyond belief that youngsters can reach up to where the sticky seed pods grow. Evidently Carlton Lees was not worried. He has four kids of his own.

Mrs. Dale Fogler, who is a member of the Columbus African Violet Society, attended the recent African Violet Show at Lazarus.

Floyd Bartley, who also attended the show, said he was surprised at the great variety of the foliage to be found in African Violets.

Mrs. Pryor Harmount, Route 1, Circleville, says her bird friends do not pay too much attention to her feeders in summer. There's just too much else to eat around a farm. She does however put out suet in the summer because she figures they won't pick that out other places. However Mrs. Harmount thinks that town people should feed the birds all summer. Then the birds will stay around and not have to be lured back in the autumn.

Mrs. Dallas Elliot, N. Pickaway St., feeds her birds the year around.

Mrs. Lloyd Jonnes, 149½ W. Main St., has bloodroot blooming in her backyard. The bloodroot was planted there years ago by Dr. and Mrs. B. R. Bales. Indians used the blood root sap for war paint. Whenever you pick it a red liquid oozes out of the stem.

The dog-toothed violets are blooming in our woods. They are a modest but lovely little wild flower—sometimes called adder's tongue. They are members of the lily family.

Mrs. Robert Bates, N. Court St., said her rose garden was not looking so bad after all. At first she thought she had only two of her 22 roses living. On a very recent examination she discovered two more plants that showed signs of life.

Mrs. Oscar Root, former Circleville resident, now living in Pataskala, reports that only five out of their 35 roses wintered over.

THE GARDEN at the Charles May home, S. Court and W. Mount Sts., is particularly beautiful now with hyacinths, Red Emperor tulips and daffodils in bloom.

We understand Jim Shea's rose garden suffered severe loss and that Mrs. Jim Shea's roses weathered over in great shape. Jim, you know, believes in early drastic trimming. Mrs. Shea never trims her roses more than she just has to. However, we think, that this hal nothing to do with winter-kill. Mrs. Shea's roses are up against the house.

Ivy Blossoms Mean You Can Have Ivy Trees

In the summer of 1958 the garden editor received two calls about English ivy blossoms. This was something of a phenomenon to the editor and the gardeners who spied the blossoms.

According to Brigham Johnson in Horticulture Magazine ivy has to be more than 20 years old to produce these blossoms. When ivy reaches its ultimate height (that is, stops climbing), it develops fertile shoots on which are clusters of yellow flowers followed by dark blue fruit.

The leaves of the fertile stems are unlobed, quite distinctive from ordinary ivy leaves. These stems may be rooted and will grow into a slow growing shrub which will not vine.

These shrub ivies are little known. Perhaps this is because they are a little difficult to root. A rooting hormone is recommended.

SHRUB IVY will grow to three feet in height and of equal breadth and may be sheared. Since it is slow growing it may be used also as a houseplant.

Much of the ivy was winter killed this year. But remember, if you have blossoms it means that you have the makings of a rare shrub. It may be that people in Circleville will have to wait another 20 years however for the fertile stems with the distinctive unlobed leaves to appear again.

The first United States census report in 1790 was a thin booklet of 56 pages. The 1950-60 census report will have more than 130,000 pages of statistical tables.

boxes. She sends in the labels and the company sends back flower seeds and bulbs. Very good bargains, she says. She's planning to give them to friends that provide her with flowers from their gardens. A very nice idea!

Mrs. Marvin Jones, Mt. Pleasant Garden Club, carefully protected her roses last winter. She's delighted with the number that wintered over.

Mrs. Nobel Barr, 160 Town St., has climbing strawberries. We understand she is very pleased with them. They are quite new in American gardens and we shall watch the performance of Mrs. Barr's strawberries with interest.

Sally Harden, Park Place, is one of our favorite gardeners. No matter what time of year you pass there's always something of interest blooming there. Now it's the daffodils.

Mrs. L. E. Foreman, Park Place, says that her privet hedge will have to be cut way back. It took a real beating.

Yanks Abroad Try To Do as 'Romans' Do

U.S. Businessmen
Seek To Get Along
With Neighbors

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — That man in a hurry on the transatlantic jet may be from Ohio and not headed for the Folies Bergere. He may be on his way to see how well his European plant is turning out cash registers with arabic figures for sale in the Midwest.

And while he's there he'll try his best to act like and think like his native employees and customers. It pays.

More and more American firms are building plants abroad or talking about it. Here are some rules of thumb on how to succeed as given by one old hand.

Stanley C. Allyn, chairman of National Cash Register, says that 40 per cent of his firm's sales are overseas — and 65 per cent of these sales were of machines built abroad. Overseas operations have set new sales records in each of the past 13 years.

He employs 22,000 people abroad, and only six are Americans. But Dayton, Ohio, executives are constantly traveling to the overseas plants, and sales offices, visiting 30 countries last year. And the overseas personnel frequently come to Dayton headquarters. Personal contact is the key to success, says Allyn.

The first rule, however, he says, is to go into a country to stay regardless of wars, revolutions or depressions.

Another is to plow back the profits you make abroad. His firm has paid for the plants it built since the war largely out of profits of overseas operations.

To Americans planning to manufacture overseas — whether it's to take advantage of usually lower operating costs or to slide under the barriers of currency restrictions or import quotas — Allyn has other pointers.

One is to treat foreign employees as you do those at home. This goes for working conditions, recreation facilities and benefit programs. Wage sales, like the price of raw materials, are governed by local conditions.

Another is to study the local market conditions and when necessary adapt your product to meet it. Allyn notes that in some cases ideas and product changes originating abroad have been put into use here.

If your firm wants to prosper, or even stay alive, in its overseas location and market, there is one prime thing to remember.

Always respect the customs, traditions, religions and sensitivities of foreign peoples. What nearly everyone does in Ohio might infuriate the people in Calcutta or Lisbon.

Coleus Grown From Seed Satisfactory

Miss Hoffman Plants Coleus Seed Outdoors With Fine Results

According to Miss Helen Hoffman, Route 1, Kingston, growing coleus from seed is a fascinating project.

Last year seeds planted in her garden produced literally hundreds of tiny vari-colored plants. She said the seed germinated almost 100 per cent and no other one packet of seed had ever given her so much fun.

The decorative Coleus, with its brightly colored leaves, has in the past been regarded by both florists and home gardeners alike as being most satisfactorily propagated by cuttings. This is no doubt due to the availability of excellent, brightly colored named varieties, such as Brilliance, Golden Bedder, and others.

But to home gardeners who have found cutting-produced plants expensive or unobtainable, or who are interested in discovering entirely new combinations of colors in the Coleus leaf, the new Coleus seed offers many attractive possibilities.

Individuals of the planting may be selected and brought indoors or reproduced from cuttings and perpetuated for additional gardening pleasure during the winter months.

MANY CUTTINGS may be taken and rooted from any one plant, and most gardeners are aware of how easily Coleus cuttings are rooted in sand or even water.

There are very few annual subjects which will produce color in heavily shaded places in the garden. Coleus, along with Fibrous-Rooted Begonias and Dwarf Impatiens, is one of the best annuals for this purpose.

Coleus is actually best adapted to shade, as it will quickly develop leaf colors of less desirable dark green and brown shades when it is exposed to full sun. Individual plants may be developed to a height of several feet where some height is desired.

On the other hand, if low, bushy growth is wanted for edging, the plants will keep their shape very well by responding quickly to a "hard pinch", as the professionals express it.

Most gardeners are loath to cut back even the growing tips of plants, not to mention the often recommended procedure of pinching the plant back to within several inches of the ground!

Yet Coleus is one of the few subjects where this can be done without harm, as it is very succulent and "breaks" extremely rapidly when pinched back in this manner.

Coleus seed sprouts quickly and easily, given a temperature of at least 65 degrees. For shady garden planting it makes an ideal subject, but it is best to start six weeks or so ahead of the planting-out date.

Ads May Be Used To Help Orphans

TORONTO (AP) — The Ontario government is considering running newspaper ads in an effort to get parents for about 11,000 children available in the province for adoption.

The children are aged 4 to 16. There is no trouble finding homes for younger ones.

"There may be some initial criticism that we are merchandising children, but this is not the case," said Deputy Welfare Minister James S. Band. "All we are attempting to merchandise is a child's happiness."

The Circleville Herald, Wed., April 15, 1959

SEED GROWN COLEUS — Few people realize that coleus is easily grown from seed. Seed planted early indoors or outdoors when the weather is warm Coleus gives a magnificent variety of colors and leaf patterns.

Bulbs Blooming In Rose Park

Narcissus, daffodils, and Scilla are among the bulbs that will be in bloom along Acton Road and in the Columbus Park of Roses.

In order that the Public may see this display in its entirety, the Main gate to the Park through the ravine will be left open.

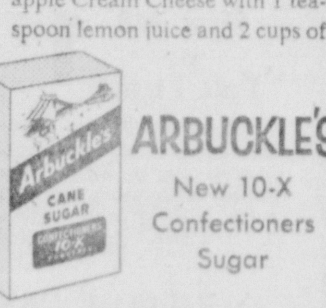

This display should be very worthwhile as there are over 3,000 bulbs in all, planted over a three-year period.

If at all possible this week, visit the Park of Roses and see this beautiful display of spring bulbs.

New Zealand Dairying Said Ahead of Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Ohio farm youth brought back from New Zealand today the impression that dairy farmers in that country are perhaps a little more modern in their milking techniques than Ohio dairy farmers.

Howard Watkins Jr., of near Kenton, Ohio, said that his observation during six months on 12 New Zealand farms under the international farm youth exchange program, sponsored by the National 4H Club Foundation.

"Every dairy farm I saw in New Zealand was using pipe line milking machines," he explained. But the dairy farmers there, just like those in Ohio, are getting government help. The difference, he said, is that the consumer can see the benefit of the subsidy.

As an illustration, he said, the consumer might be able to buy milk for 10 cents a quart while the government is paying the New Zealand farmer 15 cents.

Watkins, 23, is going back to Ohio this week.

Then he will (1) start helping his father run the family farm, (2) marry, on April 26, Ruth Ramsey of Ridgeway, Ohio, and (3) start six months of Army duty, on May 4, at Ft. Benning, Ga.

"I'm going to be pretty busy," he observed.

Soap Firm Named In $200,000 Suit

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—An Evansville waitress has filed a $200,000 damage suit in U.S. District Court here against the Procter & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati, charging the firm was "negligent and careless."

Mrs. Ida Belle Powell, 37, charged Monday there was a sharp object in a box of the company's detergent which she purchased July 15, 1957. She said she cut her finger on the object and it had to be amputated after becoming infected.

The suit contended the amputation reduced her earning power as a waitress.

Pinson Said Sure To Stay In Majors

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds have an ambitious young man named Vada Pinson who yearns to stay up among the big leaguers.

He had the same hope last season. He didn't make it. He needed more seasoning.

He likes to show his talents with hitting like Tuesday night—a homer and a double in Cincinnati's 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

Pinson, 20, has two conspicuous assets: lightning speed afoot and considerable talent with a bat.

And he has some of the confidence he could have used last season.

"I know a little more what it is all about," he said. "Last year, I felt I didn't belong."

Manager Mayo Smith said, "Speed is one of the greatest of all natural gifts. That's why I'm so high on Vada Pinson. He can fly."

"When you have speed and aggressiveness, you go places in baseball."

"In order to win, you have to take chances. The aggressor is the chance-taker, and if he has speed, too, that cuts down the risk."

Pinson's homer, his first for the season, broke the scoring ice for the Reds in the first inning Tuesday night.

The Pirates got to righthander Bob Purkey for three hits and two runs in the fourth inning on Ted Kuszewski's double, Don Hoak's single and Bill Mazerowski's safety.

But Purkey broke down. After Frank Thomas walked and catcher Ed Bailey homered in the fourth, Purkey protected the lead the rest of the way.

College Freshman Flunkouts Counted in the Hundreds

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Each term, hundreds of freshmen in colleges and universities are told to pack their things and leave the ivy-covered halls of higher learning.

They are no longer qualified for college work—they have failed to make the first step on the road to a coveted college degree. They are “flunkouts.”

Though a 2.0 or C average is required for graduation in all schools polled, a freshman may get as low as a 1.0 in some schools and remain (on warning or probation.) The time varies, but it is usually six months to a year after he has been dropped that a student may re-apply for admission to his former school or another one.

Are too many students wasting their time and their parents' money in failing to meet academic requirements established for them?

In a poll of six schools—the University of Dayton, Ohio State University, Ohio University, Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, Earlham College and the University of Cincinnati—most agreed that it is difficult to determine how many is “too many” on the basis of figures alone. But they are inclined to believe that “too many” are not flunking out.

Garland G. Parker, University of Cincinnati registrar and central admissions officer, said “with the recent rapid increase of the percentage of college-age students actually attending college, the number of students lacking proper qualifications has also been increasing.”

“Only to the extent that properly qualified students are failing in college because of poor study habits, psychological factors or lack of application, are too many college freshmen flunking,” he said.

Illness, concern over finances, frustration because of the election of the wrong field of study, lack of application and unwise use of time, in addition to poor preparations, are credited with helping to remove students from the enrollment list, according to Parker.

He said the drop-out rate at Cincinnati between the freshman and sophomore years has been 20 per cent in recent years. Not all these are academic failures, however. Dean Gaige B. Paulsen of Ohio

University believes that flunking out “represents an upgrading of standards and a movement away from the policy of keeping everybody in school even if he is not achieving according to absolute standards.”

Readiness to do college work is not only a matter of application and effort, but also a matter of having the basic readiness for meeting university level requirements, he said.

“It may be that we are attracting too many people to college level work. Students who have no reasonable prospect of meeting university level demands are attracted to college. We may need better guidance at the high school and beginning university level,” Paulsen said.

Hurts Treated At Hospital

Raymond Nance, 28, 201 E. Franklin St., mangled the little finger of his left hand in a car door yesterday. He was treated at Berger Hospital and released.

Tracy Strawser, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Strawser, Williamsport, was accidentally hit with a baseball bat while playing. She received a laceration above the eye. She was treated at Berger Hospital yesterday and released.

Judy Little, 18, of 114½ E. Main St., a saleslady at the G. C. Murphy Co., was installing a piece of glass in a shelf at work yesterday when the glass broke and cut the tip of the first finger of her right hand. She was treated at Berger Hospital and released.

Juvenile Fined For Speeding

Willard Eugene Carter Jr., Route 2, was fined $25 and costs yesterday in Pickaway County Juvenile Court.

Carter was accused of speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone. A total of $20 of his fine was suspended as was his operator's license for 30 days.

Arrest was made by the State Highway Patrol. Judge Guy G. Cline presided.

About one-half of the 2,400 freshmen at Ohio University last year had grade averages below the graduation requirement.

The University of Dayton lost 85 of its 1,087 freshmen last semester. Father Paul Wagner, director of admissions, feels that lack of preparation and failure to adjust to college life are the causes of failure. Many students lack preparation in the rudiments of English, he added.

Ohio State last year dismissed at all levels one out of every 12 students, according to Ronald B. Thompson, executive dean of special services.

“If standards were high enough so that very few freshmen failed out of school, this would mean that many who could succeed would have been denied admission. Our selection devices are not valid enough to admit all who will succeed and refuse all who would fail,” Thompson said.

Earlham College registrar, Myra Jane Coats, said the number of students from the total student body who flunk has been decreasing at Earlham for the past four or five years. Forty-two of the school's 262 freshmen did not maintain a C average last year.

At Miami 9 per cent of the 2,100 freshmen were suspended last year and 14.4 per cent left school.

— bureau believes some professors might say 50 per cent should be flunked out by a school which can't give entrance examinations. (Miami, like other state-supported schools, must accept students from any accredited Ohio high school.)

“If we could identify and separate all the valid reasons (a student flunks out), we'd really be getting somewhere,” according to Gordon Wilson, in charge of freshman English courses at Miami.

University spokesmen affirmed the idea that able freshmen in general are better equipped for college than they were a generation ago.

Some may be forced to leave school, but the ones who remain are evidently higher on the ability ladder than those who received their sheepskins a generation ago.

“We are expecting more of today's students than we did from those of a generation ago,” said one dean.

Priest Says Governor Errs In Anti-Catholic Report

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A Dayton priest says there's no evidence of anti-Catholic sentiment in this area, and that Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina is wrong in implying so.

The governor told a Senate Civil Rights hearing in Washington Tuesday he was shocked by what he called evidence of anti-Catholic feeling in Dayton. He referred to the burning of a statue of Pope Pius XII on the same morning—last Oct. 9—that the Roman Catholic leader died.

But Father James E. Sherman of Dayton's Immaculate Conception Church retorted: “I think the governor is entirely wrong in some of his statements. Who knows (that) a group of people did this? Who knows it was an indication of anti-Catholic sentiment?”

“We don't know if it was done as a prank or by an insane person. We have no evidence of anti-Catholic sentiment in this area at all . . . The governor is just stirring up a red herring, as they say. It's not very helpful to our country.”

Father Sherman was backed up by Police Lt. R. C. Grundish who said Dayton is “exceptionally unbiased. . . .”

The statue of Pope Pius—in the Grotto of Our Lady of Bel-Mont Parish here—was coated with a tar-like substance and set afire. The heat cracked the statue. It has since been replaced.

Hollings was in Dayton attending a Lutheran convention when the incident happened. He said news of the Pope's death “was greeted by a group of people proceeding to the cathedral grounds . . . tarring a beautiful marble statue of the Pope, placing tinder sticks at the bottom and setting the likeness ablaze.”

Grundish said police dropped their investigation of the case after becoming convinced a mentally deranged person was responsible.

CLUBWOMEN VANISH MYSTERIOUSLY—Clarksburg, W. Va., authorities have intensified a search for two prominent clubwomen whose mysterious disappearance April 8 led members of their families to fear they had met with foul play. Mrs. Juanita Ferguson (left), 60, and Mrs. Virginia Conley, 54, last were seen in a restaurant near Sutton, W. Va. They were returning from a garden club meeting.
